Philip Wrangham, was ordained during the war, 1944 and he began to give missions very soon after he finished his studies at Hawkstone.

He quickly built up a reputation as a very good mission preacher. He was thoughtful, prepared well and he had a very lively delivery that would interest the people.

Then unfortunately at the age of only 36 underwent an operation in Cheam hospital and he suffered from a blood clot after the operation, and died at that age of 36.

He was missed by very many, and it was a great shock to the whole province.
